VOL. CXV. No. 162. ALEXANDRIA, VIRGINIA THURSDAY, JULY 9, 1914. PRICE, 2 CENTS

SNATCHED FROM THE BURNING

Young Woman of Richmond Rescued from Questionable House.

THOUGHT IT A PARTY

No Charges Are Made, as Innocent Woman Would Be Compelled to Appear as Witness in Case.

Richmond, July 9.—Hidden away in an attic room of a house in a disreputable section of the city, the child of some anxious mother was last night discovered by the police and rescued before the man who had lured her to the place had injured her.

She had been almost dragged to the place, according to the person who informed the police, and on whose word the officers raided the house, and had been induced to drink two glasses of beer.

And because it was necessary to protect the innocent girl's reputation and character, the man who was foiled goes free!

There are no charges entered on the books of the First Precinct Station House, to which the girl was taken, and none will be entered against the man. There is none against the woman whose house they were in. Should any of these charges be made the girl would be forced to appear in court as a witness, and she would be the real sufferer."

"I didn't know where I was until the officer told me," the girl told the police sergeant before whom she was taken after being rescued. "I thought I was going to a party, and made many excuses because I had not had an opportunity to dress after leaving my work. We went into a room, after entering the house, and some one brought in sandwiches and something to drink. It was while we were eating and talking that some one enetred and told my companion and myself to come into another room.

"We did so, and she left us alone, closing the door. It was not long afterward that the policeman came to the door and demanded to know who I was and how long I had been there. I was badly frightened, but my companion assured me that it was all right, and told the officer so. He telephoned somebody several times, and then told us that we would have to go to the station house. We had not been in the place more than fifteen minutes. I thought it was a party, and had no idea where we were until the policeman told me.

"You are married, aren't you," she said, appealing to the sergeant, who was trying to make up his mind to let the guilty man go free in order that the innocent girl might not suffer further.

"Yes, I am."

"Then you will try to help me and to protect me, won't you?"

That insured her freedom, so far as the sergeant was concerned, and appealing to his captain, he was upheld. The innocent must not suffer to prosecute the guilty.

But for the fact that some man noticed the pair on the street as they were on their way downtown, and thought perhaps something might be wrong, the police would have been none the wiser. He did notice them nad he followed them to the house. He then immediately called the police station, and although refusing to give his name, informed the sergeant of what had transpired. The police were dispatched at once, and the raid and rescue followed.

GRANTS WRIT OF ERROR IN CASE

Court of Appeals Will Construe Wet and Dry Laws of State.

ALLEGE SOLICITING

Liquor Agent Says He Brought Orders to Richmond as a Matter of Mutual Accommodation.

Richmond, July 9.—If a man who happens to be connected with a liquor business in a "wet" territory city happens to be walking down the street in a "dry" territory town, and a citizen of the "dry" town sidles up to him, thrusts him in the ribs and says: "Old man, you'll do me an everlasting favor if you will ship me a gallon of whisky when you go home," and the "old man" in the case replies neither yea nor nay, but hies him home and ships the liquor, has the law affecting the sale and shipment of liquor been violated?

The Circuit Court of Louisa County says it has.

A. B. Wiseman, of Richmond, and his lawyers say it has not.

That there is room for doubt is evidenced by the action of the Supreme Court of Appeals, which yesterday granted Wiseman's petition for a writ of error and supersedeas.

Wiseman was tried and convicted in Louisa county last spring on an indictment charging that he did act as agent for the sale and transmission of an order for ardent spirits given to him by Cole Gillum, said Wiseman having no license, etc." A fine was imposed, and the defendant was required to give security in the sum of $500 for twelve months. He carried the case to the Supreme Court with the result that it is to be revised.

Wiseman denies in his petition that he violated any law. He sets forth that he did not go to Louisa to sell liquor for the John M. Higgins estate, which conducts a liquor business in Richmond, but for the purpose of collecting some accounts due. He declares that when he was approached by Gillum he did not promise Gillum that he would send the liquor. He merely listened and said nothing. Wherefore, he contends, he cannot be construed acting as an agent for the sale of liquor. He admits that he did jot down a memorandum of the request. He admits further that on that same day he was approached by thirteen other citizens of "dry" Louisa, who requested him to send them liquor, and that he jotted down their names also. And he admits that when he returned to Richmond he was kind enough to give the addreses of the fourteen citizens of "dry" Louisa to the liquor house with which he is employed as a collector. But he po-poohs the charge that he was the agent of a whisky house selling liquor in "dry" territory.

His lawyers demurred to the indictment and asked the court to quash it on the ground that "it was not charged that the order was solicited by the accused or by anyone else." The Louisa court, however, refused to put aside the indictment.

In his petition for a rehearing Gillum represents that the court erred in overruling the demurrer to the indictment and erred in convicting the petitioner on the evidence as certified in the record.

TARIFF OFF, WOOL GOES UP.

Farmers Getting More Now Than Under Protection.

Winchester, Va., July 9.—Farmers of the West Virginia border counties are getting 7 cents a pound for lambs and 26 for wool.

Democrats are calling attention to the fact that when the Republicans stumped that part of the State during the last Presidential campaign they declared Wilson's election would cause the prices to drop to 3 cents for lamb and 12 cents for wool.

Under the high protective tariff system, they claim, lambs brought 4 cents and wool 17 cents a pound.

LABOR CLAUSE STAYS IN

Senate Passed Sundry Civil Bill with Proviso Exempting Unions and Farmers.

Washington, July 9.—All efforts in the Senate yesterday to alter or eliminate the labor exemption clause of the Sundry Civil bill section providing funds for the enforcement of the Anti-Trust law were voted down.

Two roll calls put the Senate on record in favor of the exemption clause, which caused the veto of the last Sundry Civil bill by President Taft and which President Wilson, in a memorandum made when he signed the same measure, characterized as "unjustifiable in character and principle."

The clause provides that no part of the fund shall be spent in the prosecution "of any organization or individual for entering into any combination or agreement having in view the increasing of wages, shortening of hours or bettering the conditions of labor or for any act done in furtherance thereof, not in itself unlawful." Co-operative farms' organizations are also exempted.

Senator Sterling, of South Dakota, proposed to strike out the exemption, characterizing it as "vicious class legislation."

Senator Hughes, of New Jersey, defended the provision, declaring that the anti-trust laws were directed against great trusts and industrial combinations, and that the fund in question should not be diverted to the prosecution of labor organizations.

The Sterling amndment was laid on the table by a vote of 41 to 27, only one Democrat, Senator Pomerene, voting for it. Republicans who voted to sustain the exemption were Senators Brady, Clapp, Cummins, Jones, Kenyon and Norris. Senator Poindexter also supported the exemption.

An amendment by Senator Sutherland, of Utah, to insert in the provisions the words "by lawful means" was voted down, 38 to 22.

Later the bill itself, carrying $111,000,000, was passed without further serious opposition.

SHOOTS AT POSSE AND DIES

Sheriff's Officers Fire a Volley at Defiant Farmer.

Shawneetown, Ill., July 9.—George Sarver, a farmer, was killed by a sheriff's posse yesterday after he had barricaded his home 12 miles south of here and defied the officers to take him.

Sarver had been evading arrest on a charge o fcontempt of court. Part of his farm had been sold by foreclosure to pay his debts.

He refused to surrender the land as ordered by the Circuit Court.

The posse called on Sarver to surrender. He replied by shooting at the officers, who then fired on him.

The Playground Committee is much gratified with their success. Daily over a hundred children are in attendance learning to sew, knit, etc., and indulging in all kinds of outdoor sports, being well looked after and trained at the same time. On the Fourth the children had a treat, owing to the kindness of Mr. Cockey, Mr. Shuman, Mr. Bloch and the Fruit Company. On Monday evening the Holy Name Band gave them a musical treat which drew hundreds of people to the grounds. We wish to acknowledge contributions that were omitted before.

ANOTHER PARLEY AT WHITE HOUSE

"Peace Protocol" Makes Large Strides at Conference Today.

TRADE COMMISSION

Illinois Financiers and Henry Ford Discuss Pending Legislation — "Mutually Instructive."

Washington, July 9.—Formulation of the "peace protocol" between the Wilson Administration and "big business" went forward with giant strides today. The White House was the Mecca of men prominent in the business world, all of whom were received gladly by the President, who characterized the conferences, as he did yesterday's as "mutually instructive." Today's visitors included.

Henry Ford, Detroit automobile manufacturer and the first American employer to indorse the sentiment that a minimum day's wage should be $5.

R. S. Crampton, of Chicago, William George of Aurora, and Andrew Russell, of Jacksonville, representatives of the Illinois State Bankers' Association were present

Through these visits and others to be arranged the President is not only getting the facts regarding actual business conditions throughout the country, but also is getting the inside views of business on his anti-trust program.

Business has accepted the trust program. It is admittedly no longer placing obstacles in its way. As a result the President is considering certain changes in the pending bills, which, while they will not change them fundamentally, will work less hardship on corporations in their enforcement.

It is already certain that the trade commission to be established will be clothed with great powers, far beyond those originally contemplated. In many respects it will parallel the Interstate Commerce Commission and will regulate interstate trade as the latter does the interstate railroads.

As a result of the business conferences it can be stated on authority that the President has agreed to meet the moneyedn concerns of the country more than half way. He has decided that in his first two years of endeavor he has put through a constructive program that requires time to work out. Consequently there will be no future elaborate legislation program arranged for subsequet Congresses.

Washington, July 9.—Louis A. Cincci, of Richmond, Va., charged with forgery in connection with the deposit of a $225,000 Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad check at the North Capitol Savings Bank, was yesterday held for the action of the grand jury by Judge Aukum in police court. Bail was set at $2,000.

Guard R. M. Johnson, of the State penitentiary at Richmond, came here today and took back with him Noah Waddey, who will serve three years in the penitentiary, and Thomas Roddy and William Phillips, who will serve one year each.

It is understood that the Alexandria Real Estate and Investment Corporation, which recently purchased the square of ground bounded by Pendleton, Wythe, Alfred and Patrick streets, where the Alexandria Baseball Park is now located, will shortly subdivde it and sell it off in building lots.

NINTH DISTRICT.

Republicans and Progressives Meet at Bristol Today.

Bristol, Va., July 9.—Delegates have arrived from several of the counties of the Ninth Congressional district participants in the Republican and Progressive conventions today. According to the present program the Republicans and Progressives are to hold separate sessions. This would indicate two separate nominations. Leading men in each party, however, are advocating a joint convention and the nomination of but one candidate as being the only way possible to defeat R. Tate Irvine, the Democratic nominee.

There is a strong sentiment for Representative C. B. Slemp, the Republican, in both parties, although some Progressives are strenuously opposing him. He continues to say he is not a candidate.

Mr. Slemp arrived here tonight.

Among other candidates who also have arrived are former State Senator John C. Noel, State Senator John C. Catron, and Dr. J. M. Daugherty.

Irvine, the Democratic nominee, is in line of victory. The party, he said, had never been more harmonious. Irvine is an advocate of primaries to determine who shall be postmaster in the district. This plan is to be carried out in every community.

SPEAKEASIES FLOURISHING.

West Virginia Overrrun With Booze Tax on Soda Water to Raise Revenue.

Wheeling, W. Va., July 9.—With prohibition in effect in West Virginia for eight days, the speakeasy already is firmly established. Several are in operation in this city, and they have sprung up in all parts of the State. Scores of raids already have been made.

Along the Ohio river the speakeasy is easy of access. On Wednesday, the first day of the dry regime, there was a hegira of the thirsty to the dry Ohio towns, where the speakeasy flourishes. In Bellaire, O., a half hour's street car ride from this city, there are said to be eighty speakeasies in operation.

Cities and towns are still cudgelling their brains over ways and means to increase the revenue, to make up the deficit caused by the loss of liquor licenses. Huntington will tax autos and soda fountains. Wheeling has taxed corporations and raised the license on autos.

SUSPECT SPENDS NIGHT IN JAIL

Wife of Long Island Physician Has Terrible Experience.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY

Prisoner Breaks Down and Implores Keepers to Take Her to Her Dying Mother—And Little Daughter.

New York, July 9.—"I am innocent; I did not kill her," sobbed Mrs. Florence Carman, as she broke down this morning upon her first day in Mineola jail, for the first time since suspicion pointed to her as the person who fired the mysterious shot which killed Mrs. Louise Bailey at the Carman home at Freeport.

Calm, master of her motions, poised, and self-possessed, Mrs. Carman did not even show any sign of feeling when she was taken to Mineola jail last evening. She parted frmo her husband with the cheery assurance, "Don't worry, Ed. I did not kill Mrs. Bailey. This will come out all right."

But today, under the double pressure of being torn from the bedside of her dying mother, and being parted from her twelve-year-old daughter, who unwittingly had added a link in the testimony against her mother, Mrs. Carman lost her self-possession and sobbed and wept as she brokenly denied any knowledge of how Mrs. Bailey met her death.

"I was jealous, I admit it," the prisoner stammered between her outbursts of grief. "But I am innocent. God knows I am innocent. Oh, take me home, and away from this."

Meanwhile little Elizabeth, Mrs. Carman's daughter, stood out as a tragic figure in the case. Big Sheriff Pettit wiped away tears as the child plantively inquired. "When will you bring mamma back?"

"I just can't stand it without her." the little girl cried, before the start for the jail. "She must come back soon."

Freeport, N. Y., July 9.—Mrs. Florence Conklin Carman was arrested in her home on Merrick road yesterday, charged with murdering Mrs. Lulu D. Bailey, of Hempstead, on the night of June 30. She was taken to Mineola jail, held without bail for an examination in the little court room in Freeport Monday morning.

Mrs. Carman was arrested in the room in which Mrs. Bailey died—the private office of her husband, Dr. Edwin Carman, the man of whom she was insanely jealous and whose hand had left the shoulder of Mrs. Bailey but a moment before the shot, which Mrs. Carman is accused of firing, ended his patient's life.

Justice of the Peace Cqrodon Norton, coroner ex-officio, sat in the operating chair, back of which Dr. Carman sought protection when the bullet entered Mrs. Bailey's back. Mrs. Carman, her boyish lawyer, George M. Levy, Sheriff Pettit, District Attorney Smith, Dr. Carman and Elizabeth Carman, the accused woman's beautiful nine-year-old child, were the only occupants of the room.

Mrs. Carman collapsed. She made no outcry, caused no furore. She simply collapsed like a woman stricken. The officials present say there was not a man present who did not weep with her. The coroner was completely unnerved. The Carmans had been his friends for years. When he was charged with malfeasance in his office of justice of the peace recently, Dr. Carman gave him not only moral, but financial support.

"This is a painful duty," said the coroner, tears streaming down his face, "but I have to do it. You know I have to do it."

"We know," replied Mrs. Carman, simply.

The coroner, with trembling hands, drew from his pocket commitment papers which he had prepared. He placed them on the doctor's desk and in the form proved by law informed Mrs. Carman that she was accused of murder.

"Do you plead guilty or not guilty?" he asked.

"I plead not guilty," replied Mrs. Carman in a low voice.

Repairs to Station House.

The station house and police court room are receiving much-needed repairs. The constant use of the building soon places it in an unsightly and sometimes unsanitary condition, as all classes of humanity gather in those places almost daily.

The walls are being painted and rooms are to receive coats of paint.

On close days, when large numbers gather before and behind the bars to witness the disposal of interesting cases, the atmosphere becomes foul, while no little defacing of the place results.

OLD ALEXANDRIA CHANGING.

New Buildings and Improvements Take Place of Old Landmarks.

The physiognomy of the streets of Alexandria is constantly changing, and old landmarks are forced to make way for modern improvements, demanded in the interests of business and the investor. One of the busiest blocks in Alexandria at the present time is on King street, between Columbus and Alfred, where considerable building is under way. The new theatre, with its handsome tapistry brick front is nearing completion, and within a few weeks will be ready for occupancy. It has one of the most attractive facades in the city. Contractor Rodgers has practically completed the excavation for the new store building and flat to be erected by B. Wheatley, adjoining his undertaking establishment. This will be a two-story building of attractive design. Across the street workmen are putting in a new front in the two-story residence which is to be the future home of the Union Savings Bank. There are rumors of two other important building, operations for this square within a short time.

City Engineer Dunn and Ray S. Cleveland, his superintendent, are making splendid progress on the new home of the Relief Hook and Ladder Company on Prince stret, near the corner of Royal. The brick work is more than half completed and the building is attracting much attention.

At the corner of Fairfax and Cameron street a large force of men are employed in turning the old Braddock House into a modern apartment building which will be known as "The Wagar." Ahandsome parlor, barquet and ball rooms will be provided for the public and twelve modern apartments will be available. The building will be ready for occupancy about August 1st. Adjoining "The Wagar" the Carlyle House Corporation is preparing to make extensive repairs and alterations.

City Engineer Dunn has practically completed the plans for the new high school building to be erected at the corner of Cameron and West street, and it is expected that work will be commenced on the new building within the next two months.

Twelve new residences are being erected in Rosemont and several more are in prospect.

Hugo Herfurth Takes Appeal From Judgment of Police Court This Morning.

Hugo Herfurth was again before the Police Court this morning to answer the charge of selling explosives, fireworks, torpedoes, etc., on July 3 and 4. He was represented by Howard W. Smith.

Sergeant Scott and Officer Roberts testified that Herfurth had persisted in disposing of the forbidden devices and they brought forward persons who ppurchased the same. Sergeant Scott further stated that the accused sold the articles in his presence.

Herfurth in his defense, stated that he sold the explosives with the understanding that they were not to be used in the city, his customers being non-residents. An old and well-known citizen, however, testified to buying explosives from Herfurth.

Justice Caton in summing up the case, called attention to the fact that the accused had been before the Police Court three times during the past two years on similar charges. He had been fined $5 on each occasion. The testimony, he said, showed that he had on three different occasions sold fireworks on January 1 and July 4 in open defiance of the law. He therefore imposed a fine of $15—$5 for each offense. Herfurth noted an appeal to the Corporation Court.

Elizabeth Bryant, a 12-year-old colored girl, charged with stealing a baby carriage and rug from K. W. Ogden, was turned over to her grandmother. All the articles were recovered.

James Peters, colored, charged with assaulting his wife, was fined $5.

Ernest Baggett, charged with being drunk and disorderly, was held until he became sober.

Hugo Herfurth, charged with selling fireworks within the city limits, was fined $15.

Another Woman of "Red Light District" Taken in Custody Last Night.

Sergeant Scott and Officers Rawlett and Kern last night arrested Irene McDermott on the charge of conducting a disorderly house in the northeastern section of the city. The accused left a crisp one-hundred dollar note for her appearance in the Police Court tomorrow morning. Several Alexandrians, who were in the house at the time, were also taken in custody. Each deposited ten dollars for their appearance as witnesses.

The case of Beulah West, also charged with conducting a disorderly house, was set for trial this morning, but it was continued until tomorrow morning.

The proprietress of a house in the segregated district were given the 15th of last June to close the resorts. Some complied with the order, but it is charged that others have set in at defiance. The women have employed counsel.

Corporation Attorney Samuel P. Fisher arranged with Manager Griffith yesterday afternoon to let his famous comedians come to Alexandria. Manager Griffith who has a warm spot in his heart for the Alexandria fans was said that he was glad to be able to donate the services of his masters. The proceeds of the game will go to the Alexandria Hospital building fund.

ST. MARY'S STATION

Electric Trains to Mount Vernon Will Stop There Hereafter.

Shortly after electric trains began to be operated between Alexandria and Mount Vernon a platform was constructed east of St. Mary's Cemetery and stops were made at this place. The station is but a stone's throw from the burying ground, and the easier and quicker way of reaching the cemetery was enjoyed for a time by all desiring to visit the enclosure. The station was, however, soon abolished and those who had previously experienced the benefits of riding on rail so close to the abode of the dead regret that the trains had ceased to stop there.

The announcement that the railway authorities have decided to again use this station will be read with satisfaction by all interested. It will in future be known as St. Mary's Station.

MORE MONEY FOR HOSPITAL

Fund Passes $41,000 Mark by Fourth of July Receipts.

In spite of the rain on the Fourth of July, the hospital committee received from Mr. Brockett, chairman of the Executive Committee, through the management of Luna Park, $70.85, which was a remarkable sum, considering the fact that the day was cloudy throughout, and in the evening the rain poured in torrents. The committee was under obligations to Mr. Nelson and the rest of the management of Luna Park for their assistance in furnishing the dancing pavilion, merry-go-round and the music for the occasion.

The committee desires to acknowledge the receipt from the Good Shepherd Mission, Miss Nancy Lee Tachatt's class, of the sum of $1.15, which brings the total contributions to date up to $41,021.76.

The committee in charge of site for the new hospital are very anxious that every one who has a piece of ground to offer will do so at their very earliest possible convenience, as they wish to take in hand all of the proposed sites, visit the same, and make their final decision as early as possible. As heretofore announced, offers of sites will be received up to an including next Saturday, July 11th.

WANT MEN, NOT MEASURES.

"The need of the hour is for men, not measures," said Eugene Lamb Richards, State Superintendent of Banks of New York, addressing the National Association of Supervisors of State Banks at Atlantic City. 'When I consider the general topic, 'Legislation,' it has about as cheerful sound to the business men of my State as the thought of castor oil to the boy who has been nearly physicked to death.

"There are so many pages of statutes in the country that, if pasted end to end, they would reach from Maine to California, and to enforce them would require 100 Attorney Generals, 1,000 District Attorneys, 1,000,000 policemen, at a cost to taxpayers of about $1,000,000,00.

"Some fear that at the present rate of legislative progress owners of buildings must be prepared to paint them blue, green or yellow, according to what the statutory flat establishes as the healthiest color for tenants.

"Most men in public life are afraid of the press. We must get rid of pussy-footed statesmen, of every man who never ventures out of doors without first sticking his head out the window to discover the direction of the wind, so that he shall not walk into a popular storm."

Robert H. Reed, general counsel for the Investment Bankers' Association of America, spoke on the dangers of interference with private enterprise by legislation. He said legislation might fairly prescribe a rule of business ethics affecting the general welfare, but it must not check the liberty of the individual, for democracy ends where personal government begins.

RATS CAUSE ALEXANDRIA LOSS OF $50,000 ANNUALLY.

According to the estimates of the United States Bureau of Public Health, the city of Alexandria loses at least $50,000 per annum from rats. The bureau estimates a loss of approximately $20 per year for every building in a town, and figuring 3,000 buildings in this city, it is apparent that the loss here will more than reach the startling figures mentioned. We could well afford to follow the example of Charleston, West Virginia, which set apart yesterday as "Rat Extermination Day," and the slaughter has greatly reduced a rat colony which the Mayor recently declared was twice as great as the city's population and cost Charleston $125,000 a year. The Health Department of New York City is conducting a quiet but effective campaign against wharf rats. San Francisco a year ago carried on a campaign in similar to that of New Orleans. Many other cities and even whole states in various parts of the country have adopted a scientific plan of determination.

The immediate cause of recent activity was the appearance of two cases of bubonic plague in New Orleans. This disease, which, in the middle ages, used to ravage Europe and paralyze nations, has been discovered to be no mysterious visitation of Providence, but a definite germ malady, communicated by fleas, which are carried and distributed by rats. Eliminating the rats, with other reasonable precautions, stamps out the plague.

Rats communicate many other diseases, and do vast damage in devouring food, injuring buildings and starting fires. Alexandria could well afford to go to any necessary expense to kill off its entire rat population, and then rat proof its buildings, drains and sewers to discourage rodent immigration.

A Matter of Importance.

(Communicated.)

The Editor Alexandria Gazette:

The writer does not care to pose as an opponent of any legitimate corporation, and in fact, he believes that corporations have rights as well as the people and upon the success of our transportation corporations depends the success of the people living along their lines; in other words, that the interests of the people and corporations are identical, and both should stand together for mutual advantage. These views were embodied in a resolution adopted by the Virginia State Grange.

But when a corporation, no matter how good its intentions, deliberately and willfully discriminates against Alexandria, I am prepared to enter my protest, and call upon the merchants, manufacturers and citizens of Alexandria to see that the wrong is righted and that Alexandria gets its just dues.

It should be recollected that the great Anti-Bellum debt of Alexandria was created for the purpose of building railroads, canals and turn pikes. These were built, not for oppression, but for the upbuilding of the communities.

For half a century, since the War, Alexandria has paid taxes to redeem the pledge of those who went before and created the debt in the hopes of developing our city.

I think that the debt incurred by Alexandria for the building of railroads into the city exceeded a million and half dollars, and probably ran into two million, while the only return of which I have any knowledge, was the one hundred thousand dollars received from the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad in 1871 for the million dollars of stock in the Orange and Alexandria Railroad, which amount when received for the stock, made Alexandria a way station and Baltimore the terminal of the line. At that time I edited a daily paper in thi city and protested in vain against the sale of that stock.

I make these statements to call attention to the fact that Alexandria today is being seriously discriminated against by the management of the railroad leading out of this city to our most prosperous customers, and if the discrimination is not stopped, will absolutely destroy the trade between Alexandria and Upper Fairfax and Loudoun Counties.

Since the road leading to Bluemont has been turned over to its present management, matters have become worse and worse so far as Alexdria is concerned. Personally, I have appealed to its management to rectify the injustice done the city of Alexandria and those who live along its line desiring to trade in Alexandria, and I have always been met pleasantly and informed that the road would do its best to advance the interests of Alexandria.

The Chamber of Commerce, through its committee, have taken up the matter of transportation before the State Commerce Commission and the road agreed to do all that the committee asked and in pursuance of that pledge has added two or three trains to their schedule between Bluemont Junction and Alexandria.

I desire to state that while there is an abundance of train service between Bluemont Junction and Alexandria six (in all), that between Bluemont Junction and Washington there are twenty-one trains each way, showing a great partiality for Washington. I have no complaint to make against the road in regard to this matter, but I do complain that the schedule into Alexandria is not what it should be, while there may be no necessity for running more than six trains each way between Alexandria and Bluemont Junction, I assert, and am prepared to prove, that sixteen commuters from Loudoun, Fairfax and Alexandria Counties are put into the city of Alexandria at least 45 minutes too late in the morning, which means a loss to both their employers and themselves, and a loss in the evening of over an hour and a half in getting home, which is an actual loss to them and their families.

I do not ask the road to give additional trains, but I am asking, on behalf of the laborers coming down the road and those wishing to go from Alexandria to the country to work, that the road give them a proper workingmen's schedule, which would enable them to reach their work in time to earn a day's wages, whether they come into or go out of the city of Alexandria, as is done for Washington.

In connection with the passenger transportation, I have a letter addressed to me, sent by fourteen workingmen who come to Alexandria every day, requesting that they be allowed to reach their business not later than 7:45. The present schedule is 8:30 A. M.

Aside from the passenger traffic, a more serious proposition confronts the wholesale and retail merchants of this city in the matter of freights.

Freight shipped from Alexandria is daily carried beyond or this side of the point to which it is consigned, and probably left at some point miles beyond or below and kept for several days. This rarely occurs in shipments from Washington.

If a shipper desires to send goods from Alexandria at carload rates, he is compelled to ship 40,000 lbs (except fertilizers), while the same character of goods can be shipped from Rosslyn at carload rates in lots of 10,000 lbs., as I happen to know, having within the past ten days been compelled to purchase goods in Washington and have them sent from Rosslyn to my station, so as to be able to get anything like a reasonable rate, and the freight rate in this instance was one-half less from Roslyn than from Alexandria, and we have the bill of lading and receipt to prove it, which shows 42 cents from Rosslyn while the charge from Alexandria was 80 cents.

Aside from this, the Old Dominion had to ship their freight from Rosslyn over the Pennsylvania to Alexandria Junction and pay the Pensylvania road their portion of the freight. This 10,000 lbs. was sent in a box car, not in a small electric car, but a steam box car and only filled about one-fourth, and yet the goods were put upon my siding at carload rates, or one-half charged me for the same from Alexandria.

It should be remembered that the Washington and Old Dominion Railroad derives the greater portion of its income from the immense amount o ffreight that it received from this city, I believe it to be their duty to give to Alexandria every advantage that is given to Washington, to whom they owe not the slightest obligation for charter, privileges or freight (except milk, and this milk comes from the counties).

I have another point to make, and while in the mood I better unwind and say that every line out of Washington city, except the Washington and Old Dominion, arranges to care for and carry packages and provisions for the commuters, which is not done on the Old Dominion, thus seriously inconveniencing the commuters from Alexandria and Washington and injuring the local trade of both.

Until the present management came in possession of the road the old management always arranged for a reasonable amount of marketing being sent both from Washington and Alexandria, and there is no reason why theW. & O. D. should not do the same, especially as the Washington-Southern, Southern Railway, Baltimore and Ohio, the Pennsylvania roads and Baltimore and Annapolis, all running out from Washington, make arrangements for and look after the interests of their commuters in such matters.

I have tried to state a few simple facts, which I have done as much in the interest of the road as of the people, and I trust that a "word to the wise" will be sufficient and that no further action may be needed on the part of myself or the commercial bodies of Alexandria.

Sure Indications of Lung Trouble

Among the indications of threatened Lung Trouble are a continued cough, fever and night sweats. A change of climate often helps, but it seems that something more is needed to stop the cough and sweats and arrest the progress of disease. Eckman's Alterative, after many years of use, is known to be most beneficial in bringing about relief, in many cases complete recoveries. Investigate this case:—Schell City, Mo.

"Gentlemen: I had a terrible cough, night sweats and pleurisy in my lungs. A man who heard me coughing advised me to take your Alterative. I paid no attention to him then. I got so bad the doctor said I should go to Wyoming. I did, and when I got there I steadily grew worse. Then I remembered what had been told me about your medicine. I began taking it, with no faith whatever, but before I had taken three bottles, I could eat anything. Fever and night-sweats stopped and for over a year I have been well and in better health than I ever was."

(Affidavit). W. F. BOMAR.

Eckman's Alterative has been proven by many years' test to be most efficacious for severe Throat and Lung Affections, Bronchitis Bronchial Asthma, Stubborn Colds and in upbuilding the system. Contains no narcotics, poisons or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet telling of recoveries, and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for evidence. For sale by all leading druggists

Why Suffer from Rheumatism?

When relief from rheumatic pains may be had at so small a cost it is surprising that anyone should fail to avail himself of it. Joseph Copparelli, Canastota, N. One application relieved him wonderfully, and a few days' treatment effected a cure. Many others have found quick relief by applying this liniment. For sale by all dealers.

Cured of Indigestion.

Mrs. Sadie P. Clawson, Indiana, Pa., was bothered with indigestion. "My stomach pained me night and day," she writes. "I would feel bloated and have headache and belching after eating. I also suffered from constipation. My daughter had used Chamberlain's Tablets and they did her so much good that she gave me a few doses of them and insisted upon my trying them. They helped me as nothing else has done." For sale by all dealers.

ATTACKED BY STEER

Brooking Chenault, of Enfield, Seriously Injured in Terific Encounter.

Enfield, Va., July 9.—Brooking Chenault, a farmer living near here was attacked by a mad steer July 4th and so seriously injured that he may die. The steer was owned by a neighbor a Mr. MacTimberlake. In some manner the steer broke out of the pasture of Mr. MacTimberlake and came into the pasture of Mr. Chenault.

Mr. Chenault went into the pasture to fix the fence. He noticed the steer a short distance away but did not pay any attention to it. He had begun to mend the broken fence when suddenly the steer ferociously attacked him. Mr. Chenault was struck in the side by the head of the enraged animal and was thrown headlong up against a pole. He was dragged a short distance by the animal. Mr. Chenault was finally thrown into the pine bushes nearby. He had never released his hold on the axe which he had carried with him in order to mend the fence. As soon as he regained his breath he struck the steer a blow on the nose which made the animal desist until Mr. Chenault had gotten through the pine thicket to the house.

Mr. Chenault's clothing was nearly all torn from his body. When he reached the house he became unconscious . His side seemed to be paralyzed and there was a long cut on his hand and several severe bruises on his body. Dr. Campbell, the family physician, is afraid that blood poisoning may develop. The patient otherwise is said to be progressing nicely. The steer was hornless, a fact to which Mr. Chenault's escape from immediate death is attributed.

GIVES HORSE TO ARMY.

C. K. G. Billings' Wilmering Shipped From Virginia to Colorado Station.

Richmond, Va., July 9.—Wilmering, C. K. Billings' trotting stallion, with record of 2:12 3-4, was shipped from Curl's Neck Farm yesterday to Fort Collins, Colo., and will be used at the experimental station there as a sire of army remounts. Mr. Billings refused to put a price on Wilmering, but agreed to present him to the government.

Wilmering is one of the finest and handsomest of the many famous horses owned by Mr. Billings, for whose personal use the animal was purchased at a price reaching into the thousands. Another noted stallion will take the place of Wilmering on the Curl's Neck Farm.

UNUSUAL OFFER

Sell Dr. Howard's Specific at Half Price and Guarantee a Cure.

"It is'nt often that we have faith enough in the medicine put up by other people to be willing to offer to refund the money if it does not cure," said E. S. Leadbeater & Sons, to a Gazette man, who dropped into their store, "but we are glad to sell Dr. Howard's specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia on that basis.

"The Dr. Howard Company in order to get a quick introductory sale, authorizes us to sell their regular 50 cent bottles at half price, 25 cents and, although we have sold a lot of it, and have guaranteed every package, not one has been brought back as unsatisfactory."

"We are still selling the specific at half price although we cannot tell how long we shall be able to do so, and anyone who is subject to constipation, sick headache, dizziness, liver trouble, indigestion or a general played out condition ought to take advantage of this chance. You can tell your readers that if they are not satisfied with the specific that they can come right back to our store and we will cheerfully refund their money."

EXPLORERS MAY BE LOST.

Eight Members of Stefansson Expedition Missing.

Ottawa, Ontario, July 9.—Eight members of the Stefansson Artic expedition, who were believed to be on Wrangel Island, off the coast of Alaska, with the rest of the Karluk party which was reported safe more than a month ago, are now thought to be lost, according to a report which Deputy Minister of Marine Desbarrats received today from Captain Bartlett in Nome. Bartlett commanded the Karluk.

The previous report, from which it was inferred that he whole party had reached Wrangel Island, neglected to mention two parties of our, which set out 10 days, after the Karluk sank—one for Herald Island and the other for an unknown shore, dimly discernible through the Arctic night. Neither of these parties has been heard from.

VIRGINIANS IN MAN HUNT.

Doctor Who Killed Constable Escapes Into Mountain.

Honaker, Va., July 9.—Word was received here yesterday of a man hunt that has been on for three days in the wilds of Russell county for Dr. J. W. Worth, a physician, who, it is alleged, shot and killed William Bail, a constable, who had arrested him on a charge of kidnapping Louise Harris, the 15-year-old daughter of Warren Harris, a stock raiser of the Blue Grass section. No trace of the physician has been found other than a camping place he had occupied in a lonely spot in the hills about five miles from the scene of the crime.

The tragedy has stirred the mountain side and it is feared the physician will be summarily dealt with if he is captured.

Mountain jealousy and love for a child led to the killing. For some time, it is said, Dr. Worth had been attentive to Louise Harris. Because of her age and the fact that the parents favored a young farmer as the suitor for their daughter Dr. Worth was forbidden the Harris home.

Then, it is asserted, he conceived the plan of kidnapping the girl and about a week ago he is said to have lured her away from home. A warrant was procured for his arrest and the father offered a reward for the girl.

Constable John Honaker attempted to arrest Worth, but the physician was too quick for him. He got the drop on the constable with his revolver and forced Honaker to turn his back while he escaped.

Hhen Constable Bull went after the physician. He found the doctor at his home and started with him to Honaker for a preliminary hearing. The girl was sent back to her parents.

While on the way to Honaker, Ball, it is said, decided to have some amusement at the expense of his prisoner, and this cost him his life. He forced Dr. Worth to do the tango, the highland fling and a few other dances while he held him covered with his pistol.

The doctor vowed vengeance. When the constable and his prisoner arrived at the home of Henry Atkinson, in Finney, they stopped for a meal. Dr. Worth saw a shotgun standing in the corner of the dining room. He grabbed it and without a word of warning fired at Ball. The load almost decapitated the constable. Dr. Worth then fled to the hills.

HELD FOR MURDER.

Young Wife Arrested on Charge of Killing Husband.

Raleigh, N. C., July 9.—Mrs. Joseph Johnson, 22 years old, was arrested at Speed, N. C., late Tuesday afternoon on the charge of killing her husband Saturday night near Holy Ghost Church, in Martin countyy.

Johnson, who was a prominent farmer took his wife out riding. Later the horse was seen near the church running and was stopped. Close behind was Mrs. Johnson, who said her husband had been shot from the roadside. The man was found dead in the road a hundred yards away.

A new pistol, only one chamber of which had been fired, was found alongside the corpse. Johnson was shot in the left temple and his hair near where the ball entered was powder burned. Mrs. Johnson will be given a preliminary trial today.

LORDS EXCLUDE ULSTER.

Home Rule Bill Amended in Upper House of Parliament.

London, July 9.—The committee stage of the bill to amend the Irish Home Rule Bill opened yesterday in the House of Lords and will occupy three days.

The first Unionist amendment, to eliminate the clause of the bill providing for a vote to be taken in each county of Ulster on the question whether it should be excluded from the operations of the Home Rule bill, was carried, 158 against 35.

An amendment moved by Lord Lansdowne, providing for the total exclusion of Ulster from home rule without exclusion of Ulster from home rule without time limit, was adopted, 38 to 39.

Lord Lansdowne, referring to the Marquis of Crew's challenge Monday, said the opposition would not guarantee Ulster's exclusion would prevent civil war. Things had come to such a pass in Ireland, he said, that it was impossible for anyone to guarantee what might happen there in the next few weeks, even days.

"But on the whole," he continued, "we are inclined to believe that this arrangement is more likely than any other to provide relief from the present anxieties."

SALOON NOT REAL POINT AT ISSUE

September Election To Be A Contest Between Prohibition And Local Option.

ISSUES CLEAR STATEMENT.

Virginia Association For Local Self Government Analyses Problem Facing Voters.

Richmond, Va., July 9.— Statements issued today by Local Self Government headquarters indicate clearly the association's attitude to the questions involved in the enabling act election which will be held on September 22nd. The real point at issue, it is held, is not the saloon but the comparative merits of State-wide prohibition and local options as methods of dealing with the liquor problem.

The position of the Virginia Association for Local Self Government is clearly set forth in the following statement:

"The real issue in this campaign is not the saloon. The local option system now in force in Virginia affords opportunity to the people of every city, county, town, or magisterial district to vote out the saloon whenever its majority desires to do so. Local prohibition so declared is enforced because public sentiment is behind it.

"FORCED" PROHIBITION USELESS.

"Prohibition imposed upon a community from without cannot be sustained where sentiment opposes the law. That has been clearly demonstrated in every State that has experimented with State-wide prohibition.

"The enabling act now before the people provides expressly in Section 9, That:

"'If upon the receipt by the Governor of a certificate from Secretary of the Commonwealth showing the result of such an election (the election on September 22nd), it shall appear that a majority of the votes cast at such election shall have voted for State-wide prohibition, then he shall issue his proclamation to this effect, and on and after the first day of November, 1916, it shall be unlawful for any person or persons, social club, firm, or corporation, to manufacture for sale, sell, or purchase for sale, transport for sale, dispense or otherwise dispose of any spirituous, vinous, fermented, distilled or malt liquors, or any intoxicating bitters within this State, except for medicinal, scientific, sacramental or mechanical purposes.'"

STATES REAL ISSUE.

"This is the real issue: Shall the people of Virginia repeal the local option system and substitute for it State-wide prohibition?

"The local option system has worked admirably in Virginia. It has been in force for many years and the State has prospered under it. Now it is proposed to wipe out all the laws enacted under this system, as well as the scores of court decisions passing upon the questions that naturally arose in the building up of so important a system.

"Should local option be repealed by the adoption of State-wide prohibition, new laws would have to be enacted by the Legislature. These laws once more will have to run the gamut of the courts. Once more this question, so satisfactorily adjusted in Virginia in accordance with the fundamental principles of local self government, will become the plaything of politicians and office seekers.

"There will be strife, turmoil and dissension, because in order to attempt to inforce State-wide prohibition in large sections of this State where public sentiment does not sustain such a law, drastic legislation will have to be enacted, and the principles of local self-government will have to be outraged in the effort.

"Which is the best for Virginia, for you, and for your neighborhood, the present local option system, or an experiment with State-wide prohibition which has never been a success in any State, not even after fifty-five years of trial in the small State of Maine!"

WISHED SHE COULD DIE

And Be Free From Her Troubles, but Finds Better Way.

Columbia, Tenn.—"Many a time," says Mrs. Jessie Sharp, of this place, "I wished I would die and be relieved of my suffering, from womanly troubles. I could not get up, without pulling at something to help me, and stayed in bed most of the time. I could not do my housework.

The least amount of work tired me out. My head would swim, and I would tremble for an hour or more. Finally, I took Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I am not bothered with pains any more, and I don't have to go to bed. In fact, I am sound and well of all my troubles."

Cardui goes to all the weak spots and helps to make them strong. It acts with nature—not against her. It is for the tired, nervous, irritable women, who feel as if everything were wrong, and need something to quiet their nerves and strengthen the worn-out system.

If you are a woman, suffering from any of the numerous symptoms of womanly trouble, take Cardui. It will help you. At all druggists.
